

Save the Children

Save the Children
will be celebrating Universal Children's Day
and Children's Week

by presenting young people's views on how they would like to Rewrite the Future for children in Australia and around the world

Ideas can be expressed in a range of ways - drawings, words, painting, collage, craft, song lyrics...

Cardboard cutouts of children will be supplied to use

Rewrite the Future
is Save the Children's global education campaign that aims to send 8 million children living in conflict affected countries to school

All cardboard 'children' will be hung from the tree out the front of Save the Children's office (14 Conyngham Street, Glenside) on Universal Children's Day - Wednesday 22nd October.

An event will be held in the morning to celebrate the fantastic work and ideas that have been created!

Universal Children's Day
22nd October 2008

How would you like to
for children?
